Excerpt from Christian Heroism in Heathen Lands Moulton and took a pastorate in Harvey Lane. His income was better, his opportunities for study greatly increased and his usefulness much enlarged. On May 30, 1792, at the occasion of a ministerial gathering, he preached from Isaiah 54: 2, 3, in which he laid down his two general arguments, which have since become a missionary motto, Expect great things from God: attempt great things for God. The impression was wonderful. One who was present said, If all the people had lifted up their voices and wept, as the children of Israel did at Bochim, I should not have wondered at the result; it would only have seemed proportionate to the cause, so clearly did he prove the criminality of our supineness in the cause of God.
